

Policy Direction – Accessibility Standards

Rationale and Relationship to Vision, Mission, and Values

In fulfilling our mission, MS Canada strives at all times to provide services in a way that respects the inherent dignity, individual autonomy including the freedom to make one’s own choices and independence of persons. To do so, we use reasonable efforts to ensure that our policies and procedures are in alignment with federal and provincial legislation and the United Nations Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities that sets out principles of independence, dignity, non-discrimination, inclusion, integration and equality of opportunity.

The Accessible Canada Act (July 2019), as well as provincial regulations, set out requirements for organizations to follow in order to identify, remove and prevent barriers to accessibility, and will also put in place compliance and enforcement measures, as well as an accessibility complaints mechanism. The mandate is the realization of a Canada without barriers on or before January 1, 2040. MS Canada will adhere to all applicable regulations in the jurisdictions in which we operate.

Although this policy direction addresses the work of MS Canada that is outward facing, MS Canada also adheres to these principles (independence, dignity, non-discrimination, inclusion, integration and equality of opportunity) in its internal work. This is evidenced in MS Canada’s various internal policies in areas such as volunteer experience and human resources, as well in its provision of programs and services supporting persons living with multiple sclerosis.

Policy Objective

MS Canada is committed to establishing policies, practices and procedures on providing programs and services to people with disabilities. The objective of this policy direction is to ensure MS Canada aligns with the Accessible Canada Act and meets the requirements of all applicable provincial/territorial legislation in providing programs and services to persons with disabilities.
